

RECOMMENDATION LETTER FOR NAOMIE KALUA

To whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure to write this recommendation letter for Naomie Kalua regarding her application for a master's in project management at your Institution. I have known Naomie since 2012 when she had just joined the Federation of Disability Organizations in Malawi (FEDOMA) as project coordinator. Over the years, she grew in her career to a project manager and later to a monitoring and evaluation manager before she took up her current job at Sightsavers, an international Organization where she is working a program Officer since January 2020.

During her 8 years with FEDOMA, I worked with her as her immediate supervisor, and she was instrumental to the programs department regarding implementation of the large portfolio of projects that were being implemented at that period.

Over the years, Naomie has been known as an officer who is eager to learn such that she came with little knowledge in project management and disability but now she has acquired some knowledge and experience in project management and has also become a disability rights expert with a lot of influence on various national level practices and policies in favor of persons with disabilities.

Having worked as her immediate supervisor, I can confirm that Naomie is a hard worker and strong-willed person. She is a determined and persistent person in achieving goals. She accomplishes tasks and assignments given to her in time

It is with the same quest for knowledge that she has recently been making enquiries for project management post graduate courses to strengthen her academic qualification.

Naomie is currently working with Sightsavers international as a program Officer. Her current role requires advanced knowledge in project management to effectively deliver on her duties and responsibilities. It would therefore be a great capacity development intervention if she is admitted and undergoes the program she has applied for. It would not only lead to her professional development but the organizational development as well.
